Fatima al-Najjar, Lamiaa Abu Mustafa, medical emergency workers, and Maryam Abu Daqqa, a journalist, head to the great march of return, which is known as a peaceful demonstration. Mariam, Lamiaa, Fatima and others who are not connected anyhow head separately on weekly Friday to protest along Khan-Younis borders to treat injured protestors and do their missions, They were totally armless females in the target for the army guns nevertheless, they didn't relinquish despite what they suffered. They lost their husbands, brothers, and dear ones accordingly they insist to go on with their lives despite the agony and soreness of pain to lose them although the misery of their lives, they stickle to comprise their pain to recover their grief and rebuild their delicate selves.

Not like many other Arab women, who reunite with their beloved ones on Fridays, Gazan women attempt to cope with life challenges and adapt to their abnormal life, especially on that day.

Emad ABDULRAHMAN, Palestinian, born in Egypt in 1973. He's journalist and filmmaker and lives in Gaza, known for Gaza Hawaii (2016).
